East St. Louis Horseman Out in the Cold-A. Johnson & Co. Was Also Neglected by Western Jockey Club.

Owing to the fact that Chicago is blessed with a brilliant lot of all-round special writers who are anything but experts in sporting lines, it is impossible to obtain a great report of sporting events that occur in that city. The Western Jockey Club which was held last Monday was reported in piecemeal and most execrable fashion. Half the reinstatements were not given publication. The list published in The Republic was as accurate as it could be made, though the original report contained enough inaccuracies to cause a turf editor to discard the whole as worthless. names of John S. Bratton, W. W. Darden, J. Huffman and A. Johnson & Co were not among those reinstated. Speclai local interest attached to the cases of these gentlemen, for they are all very minent turfmen. Messrs, Johnson and Bratton are the leading owners of this section. Mr. Darden is a prominent Tennessee turiman and Mr. Huffman has a world-

"One, and it is the chief, of the many potent reasons which underlie the success of Tom Hayes as a horseman dwells in that he is never wedged to one of his thoroughbreds," said Plunger E. Then he would bet large sums on what was perhaps a very ordinary animal, Rubus, for instance. Though he did not really own Rubus last summer, she was the animal he chope to make a killing with. She was held at a short price and he could have chosen Run-nels as well, but did not. Runnels is a $15,-000 Derby possibility and Rubus a $1,500 fellow. When President Roosevelt diaed with the negro, Booker Wasnington, Hayes took it much to heart and was not himself for several days thereafter.

Further, Messurs, Durden, Huffman and Bratton had till been licensed by the Western Jockey Club, and then seceded from its ranks. For this seccession many people expected that they would not be again restored to good standing by the W. J. C.

The best information that can be secured from Chicago is that Messurs, Darden and Huffman have been reinstated upen condition that certain forfeits due the Western Jockey Club be paid. This will unquestionably be done, for both gentlemen are wealthy and honorable sportsmen.

Mrs. Johnson and Bratton are not mentioned in any way. Between the carelessness of the Western Jockey Club and the inability of Chicago sporting writers to discern the merit of news of this nature the record of the meeting is of no value whatever, and it is almost a criminal waste of the stock buyer. He was telling a group of turfmen how he had it in who, the sage, Billy Boardman, whose memory is as long as a road ditch, spake up and said:
"Pardon me, Mr. Cole, but if I recollect sright Miss Guido was foaled in Hilmois, Hence, she is not eligible to compete in he Missouri-bred states."

Mr. Cole was certain that Miss Guido was foaled in Missouri, but Mr. Boardman was not certain that she was foaled in Hilmois, Being a gentleman, Mr. Cole looked the matter up, and to his consternation found that Mr. Boardman was right. It seems that Rubles, who had been bred to Guido at Doctor McAlister's Colu rbin farm, was shipped to Illinois just prior to foaling time. She progressed as far as East St. Louis, and then gave premature birth to Miss Guido. It is rather hard on Mr. Cole to be thus barred from the Missouri-bred stakes whose unfair conditions should be repugnant to all fair-minded sportsmen, and it is to be hoped that Miss Guido will make good her Missouri breeding and Illinois birth by winning open and far more valuable stakes for Cole & Co.

Chicago Sale.
Chicago, Jan. 7.—The Hereford bull Perfection (9281) was sold for $9,000 to-day at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago. This is the highest price ever paid in America for a Hereford, and the highest price in recent years for a bull or cow of any breed. Perfection was the champion Hereford bull of the International Live Stock Exposition in December. He headed the list of fifty-six animals sold to-day by Thomas Clark of Beecher, Ill., and was purchased by Gilbert H. The most active bidder against Mr. Hoxie in the purchase of Perfection was Thomas Mortimer, manager of the Marshall Field Stock Farm at Stanton, Neb. The sire of Perfection, Dale 66481, was sold here on April 17, 1909, for $7.509.

In to-day's sale fifty-six animals of all ages were sold for $28,395, an average of $125 each, and thirty-seven cows sold for $14,550, an average of $338 the highest price ever paid in America for

JEFFRIES-FITZ MATCH HANGS FIRE.

Made the Target of Unjust Criticism.

That it is an impossibility to please all the sporting public is a fact of which Champion James Jeffries is now probably painfully aware. For the first time in the history of the American ring, the champion has challenged the former champion, hoping thereby to please the sporting public, but only succeeding in becoming a target for caustle criticism.

Because Jeffries will not agree to every whilm of the Cornishman's and does not trict, considered his closest competitor, has follow him around asking for a match, he been badly out of trim, physically, the last is accused of being insineere in his offer to to fight again. In reality Fitzsimmons should be extremely thankful to get on a return match, considering the amount of money he will be enabled to make even if he is defeated, which is very probable.

Fitzsimmons has succeeded in convincing a weak man, though powerful in physique.

one time that he could not recover. When a lighter gets a fearful beating like this once he never wants it again, and no matonce he never wants it again, and no matter how game he is he is bound to wince under fire upon another similar occasion.
That was what affed Rublin when he ran up against Jeffries at Frisco last November. Fitz virtually killed off Corbett at Carson City, for Jim was never any use after that. The Cornishman's terrific hitting was the cause of a general breakdown. He can hit yet, and all of the big fellows know it."

Police interference at the Abbey Sub of Cincinnati last Monday evening has created considerable comment among the sporting men of that city, who are anxious to know whether the game is to be sopped permanently. The Larry Temple-Mike Schrenck bout was called off on account of combined action by the police and county authorities, both bodies having representatives at the ringside to prevent any contests.

In the articles for the McGovern-Sullivan fight, which will take place before the Souths, a Athletic Club of Louisville, Feb-ruary 22, it is provided that Tim Hurst will referee the fight if Bob Fitzsimmons is unable to be present. FORBES AND DAUGHERTY MATCHED. Owing to the objections raised by the Yanger party to Joe Stewart serving as referee in the battle with Berstein, which was scheduled for January 14, the match has been declared off by the West End Club. The next bout will be a fifteen-round contest at 115 pounds, for the bantam-weight championship of the World, between Harry Forbes and Danby Daugherty, to take place January 30.

The declaring off of the Bernstein-Yanger match was rather unexpected, as it was generally believed that the Yanger party would conside the referee question rather than lose the fight.

Fitzdimmons could not be blamed for asking for a loser's end to the purse, but his deliberate throwing of obstacles in the way of a match entities him to no sympathy hereafter, if he incurs pecuniary difficulties. The mere accession of advertising which he would receive as a result of such a match would enable him to make a small fortune on the stage prior to the fight, as Jeffries does not ask for an early match. And at Fitzsimmons's age, such a chance should be taken advantage of.

Jeffries has made Fitzsimmons an offer which gives the latter a chance to make thousands of dollars he could not otherwise earn. Fitzsimmons has shown his usual disposition to haggle over trifles, and is deliberately throwing away his chances for the fight, although nothing unreasonable has been asked of him, Jeffries merely requesting a meeting under mach more liberal terms than Fitz required of Jeffries

Acmes Are Defeated by 1903 Team for Second Place in First Series.

The Central Cocked-Hat League schedule for the first series was completed last night by matches between the Acmes and 1966 team, and the Brokers and Centurys. The 1903 unexpectedly wrested second-place honors from the Acmes by giving them a sound trouncing. The crescents lead at the end of the series, having made their position secure by taking four games from the C. C. Waters Monday night. Only one game separates the 1903 and C. C. Waters, Following is the standing: Following is the standing:

The overwhelming deteat of the Acmes by the 1993 aggregation was altogether uncexpected. The match was rolled on the Royal alleys, and it was not thought by the fans that the 1993 had a chance to "cop" the match, much less the necessary four games. A week ago the Acmes were figured as the team which would crowd the Crescents. The result of last night's match lands the 1993s in second place high and dry. The 1993 bunch was in rare form, and completely outbowled the Acmes, Much enthusiasm was displayed when they took the first three games, thereby establishing a tie for second place, and it bubbled over when the fourth essay resulted in their favor. With the place safe, the Acmes were allowed to take the last game. Dodge and Habenicht, with the same number of total pins, were high for the winners. Reyburn was in the best form for the losers, none of whom attained a 50 average. The score: The overwhelming defeat of the Acmes by

New York, Jan. 7 .- A. G. Spalding addressed a letter to-day to Messrs. Dreyfuss, Soden, Reach, Knowles, Ebbetts, Hart and Robison, of which he gave copies to the press. The letter includes copies of the replies Mr. Spalding received in answer to his circular letter to the men mentioned, dated January 2. In making these public, he All my baseball correspondents must under-

All my baseball correspondents must under-stand that I have publicly announced that the scoret meetings for the purpose of organizing combines and shaping up one-seed baseball leg-islation, must coase, and as I consider personal confidential correspondence in this baseball business, as the corner stone of this iniquitous past custom. I must reserve the right to ignore the me be treated as confidential. A baseball revo-iution is in progress, and the timid ones who are afraid of shot and shell had better keep off the firing line, and get to the rear.

Further along he writes:

"Of course, you gentlemen all know that this (the trust), is the real issue in this controversy, four cities standing committed to this trust, and four clubs smalterably opposed to it. From the universal condemnation of this trust scheme by the public press, baseball officials, players and everybody connected with the game, I feel warranted in assuring you that this trust scheme is hopelessly killed beyond any possible chance of a resurrection, thus practically accomplishing one of the main objects which caused me to enter into this fight."

Before introducing the replies to his circular letter, Mr. Spalding says that in addition to these replies he has received a letter from A. H. Soden, which he will not send out until he has his permission to do so.

Replies from C. H. Ebbetts, A. J. Reach, Barney Dreyfuss, James A. Hart and John T. Brush are included in the statement. Ebbetts, Dreyfuss and Hart voice their commendation of Spalding's principles and reticrate their determination to stand by him.

BRUSH'S SARCASTIC RETORT.

Thelieve had you met Robison and myself evening of December II and discussed our differences, all might have been adjusted, and there might have been no necessity for asking for impressions now. My suggestion is that you retire and allow the League to get together and adjust its own affairs, or, if you wish to participate, then appear as a delegate representing Chicago cith.

Mr. Scalding then gives a conv of his sume that Mr. Hart fully explained this to you. Spalding's Construction of Injunction. I do not see how I can act on or seriously consider the last suggestion in above telegram. I cannot believe that you are sincere in making this suggestion, for you seem to forget that through those of your associates. I am temporarily enjoined by the Supreme Court of New York from acting as president secretary-treasurer of the National League, and I construe this temporary injunction of the court to mean that I cannot resign without being held possibly in contempt of court."

Mr. Spalding then asks Mr. Brush if it would not be well for him to sell his "alleged" interest in the St. Louis club and his "supposed" controlling interest in the Cincinnati club and retire from the game himself. He then makes a proposition that if Messrs. Brush, Freedman and Robison will permanently retire from the game he (Spalding) will agree to do likewise, "just as soon as the National League is again reinstated in public favor and all professional interests molded into a proper form of government that bids fair to continue for a reasonable length of time."

town early to-day and spent a greater part of the day with President Hickey. The two magnates, together with Manager Bandle of this city, appeared before the Executive Committee of the Commercial Club, and asked for the support of the club in their effort to organize a club in this city.

Some obstacles have been encountered in securing the new grounds, the principal of which is that of securing the temporary abandonment of an unused street which passes through the proposed park. President Hickey asked the Commercial Club to use its influence to have the street vacated during the baseball season, but that organization refused to take any action pending an investigation of the matter.

It is stated that negotiations between President Hickey and Manager Rourke are again on, and that they may yet make a deal which will settle the matter for all time. Rourke refuses to talk beyond saying that he has named his terms, which have not yet been accepted.
